About me

From the hills of Mississippi to the mountains of Switzerland, landing on the skyscrapers of Chicago, I am an eclectic creative, a global citizen and a former college rugby MVP. But I don't like to limit myself.

I love sharing my triumphs and struggles, as it relates to fashion, fitness, mental health and literally just getting through this thing we call life. My hope is that by sharing my experiences women are inspired to push beyond limiting beliefs & to create an amazing, fulfilling life.

Through my social media content, I won a $75,000 contest to launch my events company and podcast. I've had the opportunity to be featured in the Chicago Tribune, Oak Leaves & Wednesday Journal publications.

I'm interested in long-term partnerships and collaborations. Let's spread some joy together!
